

Electrotherapy Garments

We offer an extensive selection of premium quality conductive garments ergonomically designed for use in conjunction with any number of electrotherapeutic devices.

Conductive garments provide a soothing warmth which, in conjunction with the benefits of electrotherapy stimulation, may enhance the healing process. These sturdy and durable garments are intended for use on body areas to which conventional electrode application may be difficult.

- High silver content woven through.
- For hard-to-reach, irregular areas.
- Effective where electrodes fail to stick.
- Universal size.